1. Information provided

The information published on this website is of a general nature and is neither adapted to specific individuals, nor to specific circumstances and does not constitute personal advice. As regards the information provided, no guarantees can be given and the use of both the website and the information provided is solely at your own risk.

2. Liability

Despite our best efforts to ensure that the information on this website is accurate, complete, precise and up-to-date, inaccuracies may occur, for which we shall not be held liable. We are not liable for direct damage, or for indirect or consequential damage. This also applies to any technical faults that would make the website fully or partially inaccessible, cause inconvenience or hamper access. This disclaimer does not constitute an exclusion from liability for intent or deceit.

3. Intellectual property

All that is displayed on this website may only be reproduced with our express prior written consent. This concerns among others, but is not limited to, all text, images, video files and audio files. Individuals who input information on our Internet site themselves, e.g. by filling in an online guest book, by writing in a blog or taking part in a discussion forum, or in any other way, expressly agree to relinquish the economic rights of their copyright on the text and other data provided by them and moreover to provide us with the right to use and reproduce this text and share it further with the public and if necessary to adapt it, this without acknowledgement of the source.

4. Modifications

We reserve the right to modify this disclaimer at any time.

5. Applicable law and jurisdiction

This agreement is governed by Belgian law and any dispute concerning its interpretation or application falls within the jurisdiction of the court of the district where our head office is located.
